ITEMS SET W. BRAZILIAN EMERALD

Emerald has been synonymous with the color green since ancient times. A fine emerald is a truly breathtaking sight, and this member of the beryl family deserves its placement among the traditional "Big Four" gems along with diamond, ruby, and sapphire. The name comes from the Greek smaragdos for "green," through the Latin smaragdus to the Middle English esmeralde. The Emeralds we use in our products are from Brazil and are vivid green in color.

After blue, pink is the most highly valued sapphire color. As Sapphires and also Rubies are simply a variety of Corundum, the pink is the boundary line between rubies and sapphires since pink is commonly considered a light tone of red. It is more common today to call them Pink Sapphires instead of Pink Rubies.

ITEMS SET W. BLUE DIFFUSION SAPPHIRE

As genuine blue Sapphires became very rare, they are also very expensive.

Diffusion Sapphires are a reasonably priced alternative which has the same appearance as a genuine blue Sapphire.

Lattice diffusion is a treatment process that uses heat and chemicals to diffuse an element into a gemstone to artificially change its color.

It is considered the best process to enhance the color in Sapphires as the stone is actually a genuine Sapphire, with its inclusions and internal flaws being unchanged.

A blue color is "diffused" into the natural-looking clear sapphire.

ITEMS SET W. GENUINE BLUE TOPAZ

The traditional November birthstone, Topaz is a popular gem. Although frequently associated with golden yellow as well as blue, it can be found in a variety of colors, including colorless. The rarest are natural pink, red, and fine golden orange, sometimes with a pink tone. Naturally occurring blue topaz is quite rare. Typically, colorless, gray, or pale yellow and blue material is heat treated and irradiated to produce a more desired darker blue.

ITEMS SET W. GENUINE CITRINE

As the yellow to reddish orange variety of quartz, this gem is available in many sizes and is a durable choice for any jewelry setting. The rise of “earth tone” fashions have made this readily available gem a popular jewelry stone in recent years.

Lab Created Opal (GIA: Polymer Impregnated synthetic opal) is impregnated in the laboratory in around a year and has similar properties as that of natural opal. The main difference with natural opal is that the naturally occurring process has been sped up in the laboratory. Our Lab Created Opal is a beautiful opal with a perfect color dynamicity - revealed the beauty of Precious Opal.

PREMIUM ZIRCONIA

The stones we use under this name are premium Cubic Zirconia, expertly cut and polished to perfection. With an exceptional cut and sheer brilliance, they closely resemble real diamonds, ensuring a dazzling finish. Each stone is hand-set, and every piece is hand-polished for the finest craftsmanship.

While Cubic Zirconia is an affordable material, the real value lies in the extra cutting and polishing effort that transforms it into a premium-quality gem. The more precise the facets, the better the light reflection—maximizing sparkle and brilliance.

Due to changes in supplier policies, we've explored new alternatives for our body jewelry production. Instead of focusing on stone branding, we've prioritized superior craftsmanship and design, ensuring the same high standards while enhancing the overall beauty and artistry of our jewelry.

Let this be an opportunity to take pride in your craft, knowing that the quality, attention to detail, and expertise behind each piece remain unmatched.

LAB CREATED DIAMONDS

Lab Created Diamonds are 100% diamonds. The only difference is that the origin is a laboratory and not the Earth. Lab Created Diamonds are identical to mined diamonds possessing the same chemical composition, hardness, brilliance and fire – just as a greenhouse-grown orchid is identical to one found in nature.

Lab Created Diamonds are less expensive if compared to mined Diamonds. Moreover, they are a responsible and environmentally friendly choice, which is another great selling point.

CUT

The cut of a laboratory-created diamond is essential to its beauty. Our excellent-quality precision-cut Lab Created Diamonds and their beauty can easily be distinguished from that of similar items in Cubic Zirconia.

CLARITY

Clarity describes the purity of a laboratory-created diamond.

COLOR

Most diamonds used in jewelry range in color from colorless to slightly yellow.

CARAT

The weight or size of a diamond is measured in carats (ct.). One carat weighs 1/5 of a gram and is divided into 100 points, so a diamond weighing 1.07 ct. is referred to as "one carat and seven points".

Ct	0.0025	0.0050	0.0067	0.0100	0.0150	0.0200	0.0300	0.0400	0.0600
MM	0.80	1.00	1.15	1.30	1.50	1.75	2.00	2.25	2.50
Ct	0.1100	0.2500	0.5600	0.7600	1.0300	1.2400	1.4900	2.0400
MM	3.00	4.00	5.25	5.75	6.50	6.75	7.25	8.00

Each lab-created diamond undergoes rigorous certification processes to ensure authenticity, quality, and ethical sourcing. Recognized certification bodies, such as the International Gemological Institute (IGI), provide detailed reports on cut, clarity, color, and carat weight, ensuring you receive a diamond of uncompromising brilliance and craftsmanship.

Threadless (TL)

Our Threadless posts have a 0.5mm hole to hold the slightly thinner and pre-bended Threadless Attachment pins firmly in place.

This enables us to offer Labrets, Micro Barbells, Barbells, Nose pins and others from the size of 0.8mm on. This sizes are mostly used in the Piercing Industry.

Vertical helix or how they are truly called “The Bugudi”

Bugudis (translates as a cluster of something) originated in India. They are worn in the helix, preferably done vertically so the design can feature dangles and hang straight.

North India has more refined types, while simpler forms in the south prevail.

When I saw these on my Pinterest board, I knew it would be a great opportunity to create something modern and more fitting to our contemporary Ear curation concepts.

I remain humbled yet fascinated by their original beauty and craftsmanship, as well as the deeper meaning behind all the different types of Bugudis. Some Bugudis can even be seen on sculptures of Goddesses in old temples.

The wearer bears the weight with grace and pride, and will never think of it as heavy or uncomfortable.

Our Vertical Helix collection remains a modest trace of the past richer history of Bugudis. They are light, playful, and relatively new in the Curation scene. They decorate the ear top so beautifully, which makes them an exceptional choice for those wanting to fulfil their need for originality.

Platinum is a rare and naturally occurring precious metal, prized for its exceptional purity (95% PT950), brilliant white-silver luster, and unmatched durability.

Unlike white gold, it requires no plating, maintaining its shine and beauty for a lifetime.

Highly resistant to tarnish, fading, and wear, platinum is the perfect choice for body jewelry, ensuring long-lasting elegance. Its hypoallergenic nature makes it ideal for sensitive skin, offering both comfort and luxury.

Due to its rarity and enduring value, platinum is a symbol of prestige and exclusivity. A timeless investment, it retains its beauty for generations, making it a cherished heirloom.

Experience the purity and elegance of platinum—crafted to last forever.

JEWELRY POLISHING CLOTH

Tarnish is a thin layer of corrosion caused by moisture, air, or chemicals, appearing as a dark discoloration on jewelry. While pure 24K gold does not tarnish, it is too soft for body jewelry. That's why we use durable 18K gold alloys, which may develop tarnish over time.

Fortunately, tarnish is easy to remove!

A jewelry polishing cloth infused with an anti-tarnish agent can quickly restore shine. For heavier tarnish, a silver cleaner or other gentle cleaning methods can help bring back your gold's brilliance.

With proper care, your gold jewelry will stay beautiful for years to come!
